SYSTEM COMPONENTS

ROMEX TRASS BED

ROMEX TRASS BED is a permeable slab that forms the base of the system. It is applied at different thicknesses, 1.5" for pedestrian and 3" for Vehicular rated surfaces.

ROMEX ADHESION ELUTRIANT

ROMEX Adhesion Elutriant is applied to the back side of the pavers and bonds them to the TRASS BED while still wet, creating a strong and unified bond.

ROMEX ECOFINE

ECOFINE resin jointing sand is used to fill the gaps between the tiles. ROMEX also offers additional jointing options depending on the surface use.

All components must be used in combination to be eligible for our 10-Year Warranty.

TRASS BED

Paver Bedding

This frost-resistant permeable paver bedding is formed by mixing ASTM #9 stone with water. Once levelled, our ADHESION ELUTRIANT (thin-set) is applied on the back of each tile to form a wet-on-wet, bonded connection with the TRASS BED that eliminates tile movement. This concrete mud slab replacement combines both the slab and the mortar, creating a faster installation. TRASS also contains 20% - 30 % less embodied carbon than concrete, making it a sustainable substitution for on-slab applications.

FULLY BONDED SYSTEM

10-YEAR WARRANTY

BONDED EDGE SYSTEM

5-YEAR WARRANTY

ROMEX bonded edge system only requires the perimeter tiles to be bonded with TRASS while the interior tiles will be bonded to the open graded base, using ADHESION ELUTRIANT to prevent any lateral movement on the inside.

The width of the ROMEX TRASS edging is determined by the width of the porcelain used. It's important to ensure that all tiles on the edge are fully bonded to the TRASS without any part resting on loose bedding material.

TRASS edging should be installed at a 3" depth and must be at least 1" - 2" wider than the width of the perimeter tiles so that they are fully supported. Once completed this surface is now backed by our manufacturer's reassuring 5-year warranty (labour and materials.)
